
O Mary, Victorious

Filii Regni · Regnum Aeternum Studios

Verse 1
At the dawn of the wounded world
A word was given
Between the woman and the serpent
God established enmity

Verse 2
The ancient cunning, now condemned
Already saw his end sealed
Beneath a humble and silent foot
His head was doomed to fall

Verse 3
No alliance with the night
No mingling with evil
Where grace abides in fullness
No shadow finds a way in

Chorus
O Woman, you crush the serpent
Beneath your foot the night is overthrown
Without violence, without cry, without war
Your purity overthrows the enemy

O Mother, lifted in the light
All grace abides in you
And ancient pride is shattered
Before your humble authority

Verse 4
New Eve with a faithful heart
Where the other had yielded
You answer in the light
In perfect obedience

Verse 5
No stain, no turning aside
No hold for evil
The Immaculate stands firm
Untouched by darkness

Verse 6
What pride had once destroyed
Through your fiat is restored
And in the silence of your offering
Salvation begins to rise

Chorus
O Woman, you crush the serpent
Beneath your foot the night is overthrown
Without violence, without cry, without war
Your purity overthrows the enemy

O Mother, lifted in the light
All grace abides in you
And ancient pride is shattered
Before your humble authority

Bridge
You bear within you the living Word
The King hidden in your womb
And hell trembles before the Child
Whom your arms offer to the world

A gentle yet dreadful authority
For God Himself is subject to you
And in this unfathomable mystery
The serpent recoils and flees

Bridge
In heaven a woman appears
Crowned with stars and with fire
The ancient dragon rises
But cannot reach the light

For already his head is broken
And his reign draws to an end
The victory written from the beginning
Shines forth at the end of time

Outro
Beneath your foot the serpent falls
Within your light the shadow fades
Beneath your mantle your children remain
O Mary, you crush the serpent

And the night returns no more
In the peace of a perfect strength
Evil bows down and disappears
O Mary, established in glory

Guide our steps in the battle
And keep our souls faithful
Until the eternal victory
